

Pearl Hoglefe Freshman Scholarship in Creative Writing

Application Deadline: July 31, 2017

The English Department's Pearl Hoglefe Creative Writing Fund awards the Freshman Scholarship in Creative Writing in the amount of $1,000 toward tuition for up to two Iowa State University students with freshman status (0-31 credits) whose work exemplifies promise or talent in one of the genres of creative writing.

For consideration, students must submit up to ten pages of creative writing (e.g., poetry, short fiction, creative nonfiction essays, or excerpts of plays, screenplays, or novels). Mixed genre submissions are acceptable. The award is made solely on the basis of the excellence of the work submitted. A letter of recommendation (for example from a former teacher) that attests to the student's promise and talent in creative writing and a high school GPA of 3.0 or more are required.

Submissions (10-page writing sample, letter of recommendation, proof of high school GPA) should be typed, double-spaced, scanned as one set of documents (Word or PDF) and emailed to Christiana Langenberg, Undergraduate Creative Writing Awards Coordinator: clang@iastate.edu Submissions must be postmarked by July 31 to be considered. Because this scholarship is also open to incoming freshmen, all students will be notified by the first week of classes in August.
